DEAF AND HOSPITAL CARE, A 20 YEAR HISTORY (The)

Director(s): Agnès POIRIER

Writer(s): Agnès POIRIER

In January 1995, the Pitié-Salpêtrière hospital in Paris opened its first sign language service. 20 years on, we look how this "French model", unique in the world, has evolved over time.

Today, in more than fifteen hospitals, there is a special sign language care structure to welcome the deaf. But what are the current issues facing this special care unit?
Is the philosophy of the beginnings still at work?
