Robert F. Kennedy, born 20 November 1925, died on June 6th, 1968. Bobby's death - only a few years after his brother John - heralded the end of a certain idea of America, the end of innocence, and - for some - the end of hope.
A few months later, Richard Nixon would be elected president and history took a different turn. Bobby made a quote from George Bernard Shaw his motto: "Some men see things as they are and say 'Why?' I dream things that never were and say, 'Why not?'"
Moving portrait of an era and a candidate for the White House...

It was Richard Nixon who was elected 37th President of the United States in November 1968. Click here to watch NIXON - THE MAN YOU LOVED TO HATE.
