

ANTON DVORAK: SYMPHONY no. 9 - FROM THE NEW WORLD

Director(s): Stéphane AUBE

Writer(s): Stéphane AUBE

The Symphony "From the New World" is the last of nine symphonies composed by Anton Dvorak, and the first written on the American continent in 1893.

It is probably one of the most famous symphonic works in the world.

Addressing himself to an audience of all age groups, Jean-Francois Zygel speaks about music with clarity and simplicity - turning all of us into music lovers.

In his very own style, Jean-Francois Zygel explains how the symphony develops and how it is constructed, movement by movement.

Categorie(s): Art, music & culture, Collections - Series

Tag(s): Classical Music, performance

Producer(s): POINT DU JOUR

Coproducer(s): FRANCE 5 - France Télévisions, FRANCE 2, NAIVE CLASSIQUE, RADIO FRANCE, SCEREN-CNDP

Length: 1x74 / Format: One-off

Original version: French

Versions available: International

Nationality: France, 2008

Rights: TV Europe

Support(s): SD à€" Digital 16/9

<http://www.pointdujour-international.com/catalogueFiche.php?idFiche=38117&lang=en>