

OF CATTLE, CROPS AND BIODYNAMICS

Director(s): Patrice GERARD

Writer(s): Patrice GERARD

Meet the Pageot family, their biodynamic farm and their heard of equally biodynamic dairy cows with the new-born calf Java.

Following their daily adventures throughout the seasons, we discover bio-dynamic agriculture. An innovative and inventive agriculture that is also respectful of soils, animals and the men and women who work on the farm.

In fact, "agro-ecology" might be a more accurate term. The land is left to regenerate naturally, thus recreating the cycle of auto-sufficiency and the natural exchange between the elements. The result is a different, more social farming model that creates a direct connection between producers and consumers, shop owners and markets. A new approach to life on the land...
